FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The Greater Kansas City Women's Political Caucus Endorse Parson for Missouri State Representative

(KANSAS CITY, MO) June 27, 2008 –Jason Parson, Democratic candidate for State Representative in Missouri's 49th District, announced a major endorsement today by the Greater Kansas City Women's Political Caucus.

Jason Parson, an Iraq veteran and grandson of late Jazz Great Jay McShann, recently announced his campaign for the Missouri House of Representatives 49th District on the platforms of improving veteran's affairs, healthcare, economic development, education and the environment.

"The WPC has been part of Kansas City's political fabric for more than 30 years," said Jason Parson. "This historically significant organization is critical to Kansas City's political process and I am honored to receive their endorsement."

Whether the subject is properly funding our children's schools, creating new jobs through the Green Jobs Act or restoring Medicaid benefits to those who need them most, Jason has the leadership experience to make sure Missourians are well-represented and their voices are heard.

Jason Parson a native Kansas Citian, a small business owner and a veteran of the United States Air Force Reserves, recently serving in Iraq in 2003.

The Greater Kansas City Women's Political Caucus was founded in 1972 and is the only women-run political organization in Greater Kansas City and is currently the second largest Caucus chapter in the country. The mission of the Greater Kansas City Women's Political Caucus is to recruit, train and elect individuals who support public policies that advance equal rights and opportunities for women, and to promote participation by women in the political process.
